DVD Description: “Dyadic Resourcing” is a process that can facilitate the reprocessing of very early trauma with severely deprived clients, including those with attachment disorders and personality disorders. Although Dyadic Resourcing is designed specifically to allow particularly impaired clients to tolerate reprocessing of very early trauma, it is also deeply moving for higher functioning clients. The goal is to help clients connect affectively to their internal experience of feeling lovable and of valuing, loving and nurturing themselves. Dr. Manfield’s presentation will include three video demonstrations, For more information about Dr. Manfield and his books go to www.philipmanfield.com.
